- Suitable for new build, conservation and historic buildings
- Bespoke/specialist colour matching services

KEIM MINERAL PAINTS PRODUCT SEMINAR

SEMINAR CONTENT :

This seminar introduces and explains silicate mineral paints specifically for brickwork, which are environmentally friendly, sustainable, protective and decorative surface coatings and how they provide a wide range of solutions to common problems associated with conventional film forming acrylic coatings in addition to being highly decorative. Keim Mineral Paints give specifiers confidence in the longevity of decoration and can be used in restoration, conservation, new build and re-decoration projects. There are a wide range of materials available, from essential surface pre-treatments/primers, to complete paint finishes.

An ideal seminar for existing or upcoming projects where brickwork is an element of your project, allowing you to introduce more creativity to your project. Also giving an opportunity to get 'hands on' with our Keim Restaurolasur onto a brick slip sample, so you can see it in action in terms of application, how it works and how it visually changes the colour of the substrate.

A practical session can also be arranged to get hands on with our products for brickwork - understand how it is mixed, applied and see the results for yourself.
